Overview of North Maluku

The Halmahera Islands and the surrounding islands that are now in North Maluku Province were once referred to as "sleeping lions" by the First President of the Republic of Indonesia, Soekarno, in one of his speeches during a visit to the Northern Maluku in his time.

North Maluku is a province in eastern Indonesia that was officially established on October 4, 1999, based on Law Number 46 of 1999 and strengthened by Law Number 1 of 2003. Known for a long time as a region rich in natural resources, North Maluku has great potential in spice commodities, vegetable oils, and marine products. Its natural beauty and rich resources make this province has strong economic prospects to be developed, especially in supporting the industrial and energy sectors in eastern Indonesia.

Similarly, the earth of North Maluku contains huge potential for quality minerals. Gold (Au) and Nickel (Ni) are contained therein. At least 238 million tons of Nickel deposits have been officially claimed by the Ministry of Energy and Mineral Resources in 2022. Until the end of 2022 there are at least 52 mining companies and 2 processing industries (smelters) operating in North Maluku. Of course, this number continues to grow and should be a business opportunity for local sons to take part in developing and prospering the people of North Maluku and Indonesia in general.

About Us

Background

Starting with a common vision and mission towards the Eastern Indonesian economy, opportunities, business networks and management principles, PT Reka Maluta Anugerah (RMA) was established on February 6, 2023 by 3 people namely H. Mansur Hi. Muhammad, S.H., R. Moh Arie Ariandhana, S.T., and Riski Muhammad Ali. RMA was officially established by Notary Adyla, S.H., M.Kn. contained in deed No. 03 dated February 6, 2023 with a seat in Ternate, North Maluku, Indonesia.

Economic improvement through the role of the private sector oriented to market needs, local resource potential, domestic support, strong business networks, and international trade opportunities are the basis for RMA to start a business in two main areas: industrial fuel distribution for the mining sector in North Maluku and its surroundings, and trade in local produce, especially superior agricultural and plantation commodities for export.

The founders of RMA are experienced practitioners in the fields of management, information technology, industrial fuel trading, and commodity trading such as copra, cloves and nutmeg in Ternate, with more than 30 years of consistent experience.

Given the high global demand for these commodities, RMA is committed to ensuring supply and export stability, while contributing to improving the welfare of farmers, communities around mining areas, and all stakeholders in North Maluku.

COMMODITY PRODUCTS

KOPRA

Copra is a coconut-derived commodity that is seasonless and much needed by various industries as a basic ingredient such as coconut oil and the rest becomes animal feed for ruminants. The drier the copra (very low moisture content), the better the quality.

In terms of color, Kopra is divided into recovered Kopra produced by drying under the sun / oven and black Kopra produced through drying and smoking methods from biomass combustion so that the color becomes brown (dark). RMA has qualified resources in the production and trading of black copra (asalan copra) for more than 30 years for local and national needs. To date, RMA has an independent capacity for black copra of 140-150 tons per month with the best moisture content of less than 2%.

PALA AND FULI

Nutmeg is a plant that is highly sought after by foreigners. The fruit, seed, and mace can be processed into highly valuable spices. Nutmeg has three harvest periods each year. The pulp can be used as sweets, oil and nutmeg syrup. The seeds can be used as spices and are useful as natural food preservatives because they have antimicrobial activity. The nutmeg flower (mace) can be used as a spice and is very valuable. At harvest time, ripe nutmegs are picked from the tree and sorted to separate the fruit from the seeds. The seeds are wrapped in a flower called mace. The mace is usually dried in the sun until dry. Nutmeg seeds are also dried for a certain period of time and then the shell of the seed is broken to extract the inside as a spice.

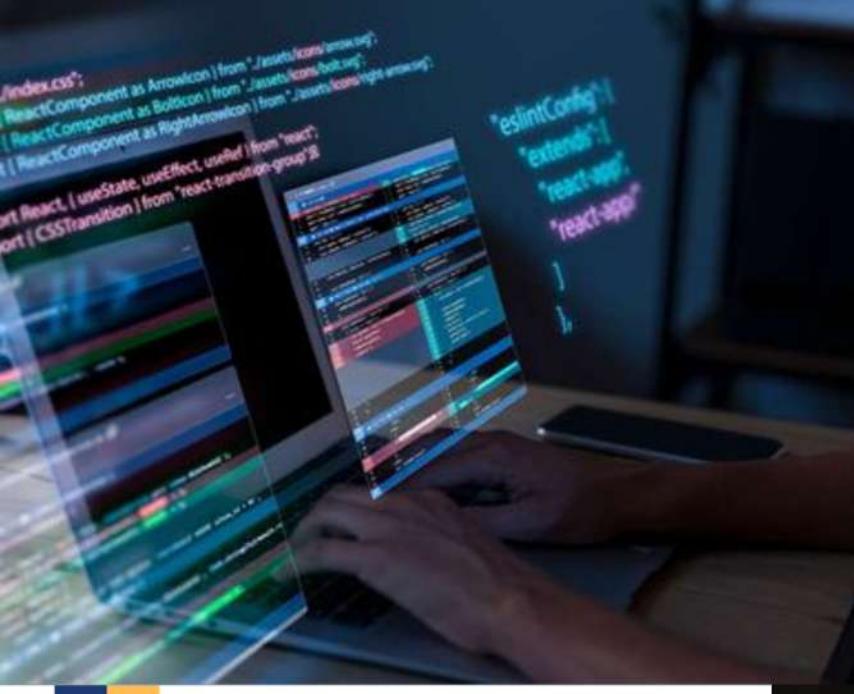

CLOVE

Clove is a commodity plant that is in high demand as one of the most valuable spices and has many benefits Similar to nutmeg, cloves have a harvest season, which is about 1-2 times every year. Cloves are picked from the tree and then dried in the sun. Cloves and nutmeg are so plentiful and easy to find in the mainland of North Maluku, that around the 17th century they became two spices that were highly sought after by Dutch, Spanish and Portuguese traders.
